About the conference

Department of Chemical Sciences, Tezpur University invites you to celebrate the achievements of Chemistry and its contributions to the welfare of mankind as a part of International Year of Chemistry 2011 (IYC 2011).

This coincides with 100th anniversary of the Nobel Prize awarded to Madame Marie Curie, providing the prospect of celebrating the contributions of women to science, along with the centenary of founding of the International Association of Chemical Societies. We also take this opportunity to commemorate the 150th birth anniversary of Acharya P.C. Ray, the pioneer of chemical industries in modern India. This conference will include plenary lectures, invited lectures and poster presentations.

Scope

The conference shall provide a platform to all researchers and students practising Chemistry at the interface and crossroads of myriad domains including Green Chemistry and Green Technology, Catalysis, Polymer Technology, Organo-metallics, Theoretical Chemistry, Biochemistry, Environmental Chemistry and Chemistry at the nanoscale and beyond.

About Tezpur University

Tezpur University is a unitary, residential central university, established by an Act of the Parliament, 1993.

At present, it houses 17 departments and 1 centre under the respective School of Science and Technology, Engineering, Humanities, and Management and offering courses in various disciplines at graduate, post-graduate and doctoral levels.

The University is located in the cultural capital of Assam, Tezpur. The land of dawn lit Himalayas, Arunachal Pradesh stands as the sentinel. One may also enjoy the serene beauty of the land of the Great One-horned Rhinoceros, Kaziranga post an hour drive. The weather is expected to be at around (15-18)^oC during the period of conference.

About the Department of Chemical Sciences

The Department was established in 1997 and presently offering courses in Integrated M.Sc. in Chemistry, M.Sc. in Chemical Sciences and Ph.D. programme in various specialized areas of Chemical Sciences. The department is also going to offer M. Tech. in Polymer Science and Technology and Integrated B.Sc.-B.Ed from the ensuing autumn semester, 2011.

Submission of abstract

Authors are requested to submit an abstract of 1 page soft and hard copy (A4 size with margin of 1 cm, 1.5 spacing in Times Roman, 11 font size) including Title, Names, Affiliations and References to the Convener.
